Question46

Read the passage carefully and answer the questions based on the passage:

Globalisation as a concept fundamentally deals with flows. The crucial element is the ‘worldwide interconnectedness’ that is created and sustained as a consequence of these constant flows.

Globalisation is a multi-dimensional concept. It has political, economic and cultural manifestations, and these must be adequately distinguished. It is wrong to assume that globalization has purely economic dimensions, just as it would also be mistaken to assume that it is a purely cultural phenomenon. The impact of globalization is vastly uneven – it affects some societies more than others and some parts of some societies more than others.

In 1991, responding to a financial crisis and to the desire for higher rates of economic growth, India embarked on a programme of economic reforms that has sought increasingly to de-regulate various sectors including trade and foreign investment.

However, it should be noted that globalisation is a very contentious subject and has invited strong criticism all over the globe.

Which among the following statements is not correct about globalization?

- (A) Globalisation as a concept fundamentally deals with status quo.
- (B) Globalisation has only negative consequences.
- (C) The impact of globalization is similar for everyone.
- (D) Globalisation involves the flow of ideas, capital, commodities and people.

Choose the correct answer from the options given below:

1. (A), (B) and (D) only
2. (A), (B) and (C) only
3. (A), (B), (C) and (D)
4. (B), (C) and (D) only

Options:

A.

B.

C.

D.

Answer: B

Solution:

1. Globalization as a concept fundamentally deals with flows and not quo.
2. It has both positive and negative consequences.
3. Impact of globalization is largely uneven-it affects some societies more than others.

Hence, statement (a), (b) and (c) are wrong

Question47

Which among the following statements is correct about globalisation?

- 1. Globalisation is purely an economic phenomenon.
- 2. Globalisation is a very contentious subject and has invited strong criticism all over the globe.
- 3. Globalisation began in 1991.
- 4. Globalisation is the same thing as westernisation.

Options:

B.

C.

D.

Answer: B

Solution:

1. Globalisation is a contentious subject because, while it promotes economic growth and global integration, it also creates inequalities.

2. Critics argue that it benefits developed countries and multinational corporations more than poorer nations, leads to loss of local cultures, job insecurity, and environmental harm.

Question49

Read the passage carefully and answer the questions based on the passage:

Globalisation as a concept fundamentally deals with flows. The crucial element is the ‘worldwide interconnectedness’ that is created and sustained as a consequence of these constant flows.

Globalisation is a multi-dimensional concept. It has political, economic and cultural manifestations, and these must be adequately distinguished. It is wrong to assume that globalization has purely economic dimensions, just as it would also be mistaken to assume that it is a purely cultural phenomenon. The impact of globalization is vastly uneven – it affects some societies more than others and some parts of some societies more than others.

However, it should be noted that globalisation is a very contentious subject and has invited strong criticism all over the globe.

Given below are two statements:

Statement (I): Globalisation may lead to rise of a uniform culture or what is called cultural homogenisation.

Statement (II): While cultural homogenisation is an aspect of globalisation, the same process also generates precisely the opposite effect. It leads to each culture becoming more different and distinctive. This phenomenon is called cultural heterogenisation.

In light of the above statements, choose the correct answer from the options given below.

- 1. Both Statement (I) and Statement (II) are true.
- 2. Both Statement (I) and Statement (II) are False.
- 3. Statement (I) is true but Statement (II) is false.
- 4. Statement (I) is false but Statement (II) is true.

Options:

A.

B.

C.

D.

Answer: A

Solution:

Globalisation leads to both: Though cultural homogenization is an arena of globalization the same process generates the opposite effect also which prompts each culture to dominate over other culture resulting in heterogenization.
